Barbara was a neighbor. When her sweet "Winston" passed away, I hugged her. "Winston" was her pride and joy. Now they are together over the rainbow bridge.

“ Barb and I enjoyed always the Christmas Walk in the island in Venice. It was a tradition we shared with Rhonda and Gail. Last year was no different except Barb and I experienced our hot chocolate with Baileys. We then proceeded down Main Street feeling in top of the world. Much laughter and great dinner at Casariano. We will keep her in our thoughts this year on the walk.

Today the Christmas card I had sent to Barbara was returned to me with the word Deceased written on the envelope. Sadness overwhelmed me. I met Barbara and Jack when they bought a condo in Brick, NJ.

I was the receptionist in the office. What a beautiful couple they were. They told me they had moved to Venice which was a place I loved and hope to move to one day. Barb and I started sending each other Christmas cards every year to keep up on our lives. I was so saddened when she told me Jack had passed away. It was hard to believe. Now this beautiful lady has also passed through the Gates of Heaven also. I had planned on stopping in to see her when I finally had the chance to visit Venice again one day. I know we would have had a great time chatting away about everything a person can't usually put in the small space of a card.

My thoughts and prayers are with this lovely lady as well as her family. RIP Barbara until we can get together again one day.

Love to you and Jack
