She loved having her grandchildren come to Florida for summertime visits. She was the life of the party everywhere she went, such a character, full of life and joy. She loved travelling the world, dancing, cooking for her husband, spending time with her family at Crystal River, frying fish that her family and friends caught in the Florida waters. Her family will gather together to share stories and laughter at her outrageous and unorthodox humor. She is remembered laughing heartily with her daughters and her grandchildren. She was an elegant woman, who was quite the flirt. Stories of her shoes are known by those who love her. She will be sorely missed.
