

Carolyn Cross

January 27, 2019

Carolyn Elise Cross, 75, passed away peacefully in her home January 27, 2019, having lived a full life but leaving those who loved her wanting more and wondering what we'll do without her.

Carrie is survived by her four children, Stephanie Cassidy (and her husband, Tim, of Tolland, CT), John Foristall (Bridgeport, CT), Shannon Kwiatkowski (and her husband, Kenneth, of Bradenton, FL) and Michael Foristall (and his wife, Jennifer, of Orlando, FL); her brother, Arthur, and her mother-in-law, Pamela Cross. She took great joy in her 11 grandchildren: Christopher James (CJ) and Brianna Lee; Travis, Johnny and Amanda; Victoria Elise and Alexandre Joseph (AJ); and Kennedy Joy, Holland Hope, Liberty Grace and Hudson Michael.

Born on March 16, 1943 in Brooklyn, New York as Carolyn Elise Schoenewaldt, Carrie was the first child of her loving parents, Virginia Elise and Arthur. Joined by her brother, Arthur C. Schoenewaldt, Jr. in 1947, the family lived in Brooklyn until 1952, when they moved to North Tarrytown, NY, where she lived during her formative years, attending Sleepy Hollow High School, where she was a majorette.

Carrie raised her children in Danbury, CT and moved to Florida in 1989, where she ultimately settled in Sarasota. She enjoyed gardening, playing bridge and spending time on her iPad, as she was an incredibly prolific Words With Friends player, engaging in friendly competition with her friends and family. It was not at all unusual for Carrie to have more than 100 word games in progress at once.

An avid fan of the New England Patriots and Tom Brady, Carrie's final Google search asked where the Pats were staying in Atlanta for the Super Bowl and she will certainly be watching the game from above on Sunday, rooting hard for her team to bring home their sixth Lombardi trophy.

Toale Brothers Funeral Home is handling final arrangements. In accordance with Carrie's wishes, no calling hours or services will be held.
