“ Dianne will truly be missed. Many happy days were spent with both Dianne and Lon up at the lake home. I'll never forget the time Dianne and Angie played a trick on us all at the campfire. We were all sitting around the fire when Dianne and Angie came up with just towels wrapped around them. There was a rumor that they "loved to go skinny dipping" in the lake. As they approached Dianne yelled out "Lets Go" and dropped her towel. One our neighbors, Bud fell back off his chair with his eyes wide open and said he was having a heart attack. We all could stop laughing. Dianne had a swimsuit on so it was no big deal but the look on Bud's face just cracked us all up. Dianne was a joker and loved to play pranks on all of us. She will be remembered as a woman of high integrity and loved by all. I will also remember the saying that towards the end of every evening at the campfire Lon would say "I going to check on the cabin" which was his way of saying he was going to bed and Dianne would say good night. I knowy they are now both "checking out the cabin together".

May the Lord watch over them both for eternity.

God Bless
