“ No expression of sympathy, however sincere, can lighten the grief that has come to you. But you must find a measure of consolation in the realization that your husband, father, son and brother has lived a fine, full life ---a life enriched by the friendship and respect of all who knew John. I sympathize with you in your sorrow, and feel that I share with many others the loss of a fine man and exemplary professional. WITH PRAYERS AND CONDOLENCES, Sister Eileen McCabe, CSJ
