“ I had the great honor and pleasure of getting to work with Justin. His constant fight to do the next right thing inspired me, even more so when he made mistakes and made it his mission to fix them with true grace and bravery. I am truly heartbroken that such a light has gone out in this world, and my sincerest condolences to his family. May you be comforted among the mourners of Zion.

“ It is very sad when such a vibrant young mans life ends in such a way. May you find comfort in knowing he now knows the answer to the most sought after question man has ever asked. Certainly, he is at peace and in a far better place where there is only love and light. I lost my only parent my Mom June 26, 2011 to cancer. Much love.
