“ I was saddened to hear of Larry’s death.

Larry was a good friend, a business partner, a colleague in the operating room, and a source of a good laugh and a smile, as Nancy has said. Larry and I, with another, formed our business in the early eighties, and worked many an hour together in the operating room.

I remember when I tiled my kitchen floor, I called Larry in a panic to help because I had left the tile grout on too long. Larry got down on his hands and knees and scrubbed that tile with me for two hours.

Larry was a good friend to many. I can’t remember how many times I would tell someone that I worked in the operating room, only to be asked if I knew Larry Hathy. He loved life, and approached everything with gusto. Larry loved sports and loved to play golf. Larry also loved his family. He would speak of his siblings and his parents with fondness.

Rest well my friend.

“ Knowing Larry was a blessing for many! He was kind, generous and always made me feel good. Around the OR he was known by some as Larry Happy. There were many a time that I would seek him out if I was in need of a pick me up and laugh or an amazing shoulder massage. He was an ace perfusionist and awesome team member who always worked hard while often lightening the mood. We had lots of good times together over the years, in and out of the OR and I will always remember my friend Larry Happy and be very thankful that I was lucky enough to know him!

*With all my love,
