

Lindsey Elizabeth Smith

April 26, 2022

Lindsey Elizabeth Smith passed away unexpectedly in her sleep on April 26, 2022, at age 43. She leaves behind a heartbroken family who lost their loving daughter, caring little sister, cool sister-in-law, and special aunt, way too soon.

Lindsey owned Scout & Molly's Boutique / Lakewood Ranch and was a resident of that community, as well. If you shopped in her store, you knew that you had found a fashion professional with a discerning eye, impeccable taste, and a very honest approach. You also felt like you had known her forever because she was a great listener, and she remembered every detail about your family, even months later. She successfully grew her business because she cared so much about the presentation of the store and took an interest in every customer, filled with gratitude for their business, every single day.

Lindsey was born in Brookfield, Wisconsin in 1979 and graduated from Brookfield East High School in 1997. She earned an accounting degree in 2001 from the University of San Diego. After stints in public accounting and investment banking Lindsey found her true avocation as a Fashion Entrepreneur, opening Scout and Molly's Boutique 4 ½ years ago. Lindsey was quick-witted, loved music and fashion and had a killer ground stroke when she picked up a tennis racquet. Jimmy Buffet concerts with her mom and sister were always preferred outings. Her chill dog, Piper was her constant companion and new puppy, Dash provided lots of excitement around the house.

Lindsey is survived by her mom and dad, Mary & Steve Smith of Osprey, Florida, her sister and brother-in-law Sarah and Matt Pancheri and their daughters Jane, Isabelle and Gabrielle, of Pewaukee, Wisconsin; as well as many aunts and uncles and “the cousins.” She also could not be happy without plenty of dinners at Jackie and KO’s house or visits from AJ and Anthony from San Diego.

We will miss her every day, and she will live in our hearts forever.

Remembrances may be sent to Honor Animal Rescue in Bradenton, Florida, or a charity of your choice.

A private family service was held.

“ Linds, so much to say. So many of my favorite memories. The time we took my K-car to visit Sarah with Ferguson and had the time of our lives in Miami of OH! The crazy Halloweens and concerts in Madison when somehow your parents entrusted me hosting a bunch of Juniors in HS in my dorm room. Ping pong, Tennis, Billy Joel, red alerts, and good music! Always good music. I felt like your older brother. The time you let me come crash on your couch in San Diego while I bummed around for the week, playing hoops and meeting all your friends. But mostly, the way you always had my back, always wanted to hear that I was happy and having fun. You have a grace and elegance that is so unique and wonderful I have no words to fully explain it. You, Sarah and your parents taught me how to be a good person. You taught me what it means to be a caring friend. You helped me become who I am today and I love you for that. I am so sad and broken hearted right now. Sarah, Matt, Jane, Steve and Mary, all the extended family, thank you so, so much for all you did for me. I love you guys so much.

“ Ohhh Lindsey (La-barooooo!), where do I start? Kilty? Bucky? Applewood Court? Lazybones? So many happy and lovely memories- but this effing sucks girl. Its not ok. You are the little sister of my very best friend, but you were always more than that. You are and were a bright shining light, and beautiful spirit who people gravitated towards. I know you struggled, but you weren't selfish. I wish you could just see you through my eyes. Kind. Smart. Beautiful. Talented. Curious. Fun. Lots of fun. I miss you already. I love you, and your family. XoXo Becs

“Lindsey, A.J. and I are going to miss you so much. I asked A.J. if it was okay if I wrote on this board and he said, “I think Linsey would it expect it. She adored you.” It was mutual, my dear! My eyes tear up as I write this note you. Our time together in Florida now seems so precious to me. You, Mary and Steve always took such great care of us and made sure we were happy. You were one of A.J.’s best friends and a rock in his life. Even though you lived 2,500 miles from San Diego, you always felt so close because A.J. checked in with you so often and sought your support and advice. I learned of you during one of my first dates with A.J. He shared with me how you had “approved” his outfit (he he he). Later I would learn what it meant to be a “Lindsey approved” outfit and, 100% more important, the experience of feeling like a “Lindsey approved” partner for A.J. Over the last seven years, (very) frequent questions from me to A.J. were, “Did you tell Lindsey about this?, What did Lindsey say?, How’s Lindsey?.” I feel like I got to know you in a very intimate way through all of the stories A.J. shared of the two of you over the last twenty years of your friendship and through just the day-to-day mundane stuff of life too (not just wild Jimmy Buffett concerts and nights out on the town...). It is very painful for me to imagine A.J. not having you in his life. At the same time I know that your memory, heart and spirit will ripple through him (and us) always. xoxo
