“ I met Molly many years ago when coming from New York to visit her sister. Being alone as teenager in a different state for the first time, and only knowing one person was scary and anxiety-inducing. Right from the beginning- Molly was kind, adventurous, bold, and exciting. Although I only met her a few times, it's heartbreaking that she is no longer here with us, as I believe her personality was warm, welcoming, and truly one of a kind.
