“ Skeat was my best friend growing up. He taught me how to water ski, jet ski, fish, snowboard, drive a boat, snow mobile. We got our scuba licenses together... I bought my first baseball cards with him at Fat Duchess, comic books. I have so many fond memories of our childhood and growing up together. He and his family are pillars of who I am today. My condolences to the family.

“ Skeat was not only a fun and loving cousin to me, he was also an older brother figure in my eyes. He was always outgoing, brave and adventurous. Kelly and I couldn't wait to hang out with him. Skeat was always daring, whether it be wake boarding, snowboarding, BMX, sky diving or even taking our razor scooters down our steep street. He always made me want to be brave and take more risks. I always thought it would be so cool to be like him. And even if you were scared to jump off from a certain height or learn a new skill he would make you feel safe and that he had your back and not let anything bad happen. I will never forget all the times he made me laugh. He had the best one liners. Just the way he commented on everyday situations and people, I always looked forward to hear what he had to say.

My love for Skeat and the fun, outgoing person he was only grew when he became a Dad. As much as I looked up to him when I was younger, I was even more excited that he had his own little one to look up to him! He taught her to be brave. She inherited his brave and daring spirit and started into BMX riding just like he did when he was little. It has been such a joy to watch the fun they had and the bond that they shared.

I will always cherish our fun memories and laughs. I am so thankful to have had him in my life and the impact he has made on it. He was truly one of the bravest and strongest people I know. He will be missed so much by everyone that knew him.

*Love you so much,
Chelsea*

“ I am remembering holding Skeat when he was a sweet, adorable baby. He became a frisky and active toddler which was the beginning of his adventurous and fearless nature. He was always game to try each and every sport. I recall Skeat waterskiing, wakeboarding and just having the best time in the water with his brother, Eric, his sister, Austin, cousins, Adam and Spencer, and other visitors at his family's house on a beautiful lake in Wisconsin.

A memory that always makes me smile is when Skeat was twelve and his Uncle Robert accompanied him on a plane to Tampa to attend a concert with his cousin, Adam. His Uncle Reza drove them and waited in the parking lot for them. The legendary show - “Vanilla Ice” and Skeat loved it.

As Skeat grew into a young man, he attended college and entered the Coast Guard and his family beamed with pride. And then, Skeat married dear Andrea and had a family of his own. How he enjoyed being a father! It was clear that he had a special bond with his daughter; Gianna, and he shared his zest for life and love of sports with her as she became an avid BMX bike racer. Just like her father, she also excels as an athlete. Skeat and Andrea, her grandparents, and many other family members never missed a chance to cheer Gianna on and give her encouragement.

Yes, I am remembering and I am proud to say I am Skeat's Aunt and will always hold him dear.

All my love,
Aunt Diane

“ Skeat was my role modeling growing up. He introduced me to action sports and his music. He gave me his old toys and skateboards which I valued like gold (and still do). As a kid seeing him pursue a degree in graphic design opened my mind to the possibility of creative careers which ultimately led me to where I am today as a designer. No one was cooler than him in my eyes. Even as a little kid I would try and emulate his style from stealing his clothes to wearing a rubber band on my wrist like he used to do. I wouldn't be the person I am today without him and I definitely wouldn't have gone skydiving or parasailing without him by my side. I'm so grateful to have had him as a cousin, a role model, and as someone I could always count on. I will miss how we would share funny videos with each other, getting his tv show recommendations (he had a gift of finding the best stuff to watch), laughing with him, and everything in between.

It brings me comfort to see that he had the same impact on Gianna and others that he did on me. Skeat inspired us to do what you like, have a passion for something and go after it, and most of all to have fun. All of this will live on through everyone he was close with.

Love you always,

Kelly
