“ My favorite memories were just me and him in the tractor. He would have Archway Raspberry filled cookies and we would be out there for hours going back and forth in the fields. I would sit in the back window and watch the dust devils that formed out the back. His favorite story was the time he and Uncle Jim switched seats and I thought Uncle Jim was him. I cuddled up next to Uncle Jim till I realized he was not grandpa. I think he told that story a million times and got a great kick out of it. I was his little shadow. Still hear his laugh. I will miss you so much grandpa!!
