

Zachary Ian Morris

January 6, 2001 - May 24, 2019

Zachary Ian Morris, “Zack”, was born January 6, 2001 in Brandon, Florida and passed from this world far too soon due to a vehicle accident in Cusco, Peru on May 24, 2019 at the age of 18 years old. Zack lived in Parrish, Florida with his mother and father, Laura and Kevin Morris, respectively.

Zack was a proud graduate of Southeast High School in Bradenton, Florida. He had completed the rigorous International Baccalaureate (IB) Program at the school and graduated in the top 4% of his class. Some of the honors earned over his high school career include: Presidents Award for Outstanding Academic Excellence; Anne Frank Humanitarian Award; Manatee County STEM Scholar; Junior Leadership Manatee Graduate; and many more too numerous to mention. But Zack was not there just to learn, he was there to start making a difference. He and several friends, under the guidance of Richard Platt, leader of the school’s Engineering Department, created a club Student Industrial Manufacturing Program (SIMP) focused on using robotics to mass produce wooden toy cars to be given to children in war-torn and impoverished countries. Through outreach, they got sponsorship from Google and worked with representatives of the 101st Airborne. Their vision was to leverage knowledge to bring happiness and joy into the world.

Zack was also active outside of school in an organization called SCUBAnauts International (SNI). He had certifications as an Advanced Diver, Rescue Diver, Nitrox Diver, and Classified Dive Buddy with over 100 dives and earned the highest rank of 'MasterNaut'. SNI teams with Mote Marine Laboratory on coral reef restoration and research allowing these young people to actively participate in helping restore damaged coral ecosystems. Through SNI, Zack had the privilege of advocating for ocean health by speaking to US Senators and Representatives in Washington DC. And it was through SNI, Zack had the opportunity to work with Combat Wounded Veteran Challenge (CWVC), many who had lost limbs in battle, suffered brain trauma or other injuries, and he developed such an empathy for them that, later, his college essays and vocational choices would be based upon these experiences.

Zack had been admitted to Yale University to start in August 2019. He had earned a 4-year Naval ROTC scholarship and would have entered the Navy as an officer following graduation from Yale. He hoped to gather perspective on different peoples and cultures and had opted for Explosive Ordnance Disposal as his field of expertise. He believed his early experiences with the combat wounded gave him a unique perspective to serve in that area. He planned to study economics with enough of a science core that could later apply to medical school. He wanted to help others and envisioned serving as a doctor in the third world when his term of military service was completed.

Zack is survived by his parents, Kevin and Laura Morris of Parrish, Florida; grandparents, Bill and Kathryn Morris of Apopka, Florida; uncles and aunts, Fred Pierson, Ronna Rubin, Tracy Pierson, Van Richardson, Carl and Tammy Morris, Shane Morris and Michelle Bonness, Gary Morris, Alvin and Diane Price, Earl and Rebecca Price, Linda and Elizabeth Mannion, Tracey Mannion, Tim and Barbara Horvath, Bill Horvath, Hank Horvath, and Carole Kadner; cousins, Kim and Georg Kadner, Adam and John Morris, Mark and Matthew Morris, Sarah Morris, Grace and Brett Horgan, Jennifer and Zach Rose, Nick and Kristina Gallaway, Mike and Jackie Pregony, Mike Horvath, Emily and Greg Williams, and Brayden and Katie Kadner, and many other cousins, once-removed. Also, all of his friends, too numerous to list, were also like family to Zack as well.

A joint Celebration of Life Service is planned for Zack and his best friend, Albert Ales, who passed away with Zack in the same vehicle accident. The event is planned at 10:00 AM Saturday morning June 15, 2019 at Woodland Community Church, 9607 East State Road 70, Bradenton, Fla. 34202. The public is welcome to join us and celebrate the lives of these two amazing young men.

Instead of flowers, the family asks that you please consider making a contribution in the boys' honor to the IB Program at Southeast High School, 1200 37th Avenue East, Bradenton, Fla. 34208, the incubator program where these young men met, became friends, learned to care about others before themselves and received direction and purpose in their lives or the Albert Ales III and Zachary Morris scholarship fund at <https://www.gofundme.com/f/friends-amp-family-of-sni-on-behalf-of-zack-amp-al>

“ To share one memory of my remarkable cousin Zack is impossible, as he has not left my mind and out of the sea of memories each one is far too precious to choose just one. I leave you with what I will miss most. It's him... his hugs, his heart, his humor, his smile and hair, and his presence, and everything else about him. I'm so fortunate to have had the chance to be a part of his life. I only wish we had more time for more cherished memories.
